Because our records indicate that the assessed value of the tangible personal property for the above account was $25,000 or less for 2007, you may be able to file this DR-405EZ, Tangible Personal Property Exemption Application and Return instead of Form DR-405, Tangible Personal Property Tax Return.

You have added tangible personal property since January 1, 2007, or the value of your tangible personal property was greater than $25,000 on January 1, 2008, STOP HERE. You may not use this EZ form and must complete Form DR-405, Tangible Personal Property Tax Return.

You have not added any tangible personal property since January 1, 2007 and the value of your tangible personal property was $25,000 or less on January 1, 2008, sign this form and return it to the Property Appraiser.

Under penalties of perjury, I declare that I have read this application and meet the requirements to file this form.

You must return this form to the property appraiser by April 1. You will not have to file a tangible personal property tax return in future years, unless the value of your tangible personal property exceeds $25,000.

If you are entitled to a widow's, widower's, or disability exemption on personal property (not already claimed on real estate) consult your appraiser.

Warning

If you fail to file a return, you are subject to a 25 percent penalty on the total tax levied against the property. This penalty will be calculated without the benefit of the exemption for each year you do not file a return. (Sections 196.183(3) and 193.072(1)(a), Florida Statutes)
